

UNICRIMP®

Our new range of Earthing products...

A Driving Stud

Attaches to the top end of the rod protecting against damage when hammering the rod into ground.

A Coupler

Joins multiple rods together for improved performance.

The Rod

1200mm long and available in differing thicknesses. The tip is hardened and pointed to drive through stony ground.

Q-CRIMP®

When designing and installing a ground earthing system our range provides options...

While keeping it simple, with a minimal number of components required to complete an install!
