

Stripping tools

Product overview

Professional stripping tools for top results

Stripping a cable is an important part of preparation work and the more precisely and reliably you have everything in hand, the better your results. This calls for first-class precision tools that allow you to remove specific lengths of the cable sheathing without damaging the individual conductors. Weidmüller stripping tools more than meet these requirements.

Place your trust in our intelligent solutions that guarantee you maximum reliability, durability and precision. And what's more, the tools are ergonomically designed to fit comfortably in your hand, which not only increases safety, but also makes your working processes easier. There are also different tools for round and flat cables which ensure that the insulation and the conductor cross-section are perfectly aligned.

With our AM 16 and AMF 6/10 models, we now present a new dimension in stripping tools. Take advantage of the benefits that no other tool can currently offer.

AM 16

The AM 16 is very small and manageable, and can therefore be used in small and tight spaces such as in cable ducts. In addition, this model is highly suitable for performing sequential stripping.

AMF 6/10

The AMF 6/10 is the specialist for flat cables and offers veritable added value: it is easy to use and the depth of cut can be precisely set, delivering the best possible results every time. It also reduces the risk of injury to a minimum.

Quality down to the last detail

Weidmüller's precision tools guarantee consistent top wire stripping performance. Benefit from the following advantages:
